Details from Follow-up: I, Licensing Specialist, Steven Pitts, went to the facility to conduct a building and grounds inspection and reviewed video of the incident involving female child, [REDACTED]. While reviewing the video I saw the child running along the wall chasing the ball and she fell and started holding her wrist and showing it to staff. There were two staff members shown in the video supervising 8 kids. I saw no issues with supervision or with how staff responded to the injury. The child did not have any other children near her at the time she fell, and it looked like an accident.
